

Rough Castle

This section of the Antonine Wall runs nearby the Forth & Clyde canal.

This is one of the best viewing points for the Wall and includes an area where the lillias (defensive pits) can be quite clearly seen.

The Google map below may help you to pinpoint this section of the Antonine Wall. The 'satellite' imagery is poor resolution at the moment but the 'terrain' and 'map' options are helpful at various zoom levels.

```
{mosmap width='500'|height='400'|lat='55.997798'|lon='-3.858427'|zoom='17'|zoomType='Large'|zoomNew='0'|mapType='Terrain'|showMapttype='1'|overview='0'|text=""|tooltip='The Antonine Wall at Rough Castle and close to the Falkirk Wheel on the Forth and Clyde canal'|marker='1'|align='center'}
```